The LP needs a fraternity for masculine men. It shouldn't matter whether they are white, brown, jewish, or black. Men don't bond by race, and if they are in prison they group by race but still interact with others. I've met several ex-skinheads, they come to the same conclusion. Race shouldn't be a factor for fraternity, it makes no sense to give lesser men a group despite inferiority just because of their skin color. Jack Donovan's book The Way of Men outlined the specific masculine virtues and what qualities men seeking a "gang" should promote in order to form a group. There should be a maternal group for women as well. Hierarchies in male groups should promote those virtues and keep membership exclusive and tight knit.
